If the Taj Connemara, Chennai could speak, it would tell you tales from its history, the place became a household name across the globe, for it was here where the blue-blooded indulged and entertained. But little did anyone know how history would shape the fate of the entire colonial empire, and this small but significant beginning of it. As the presidency of Madras became the metropolitan of Chennai, the iconic Connemara was entrusted into the hands of the Taj Management in 1984. Today, this symbolic 5 star hotel in Chennai has been carefully restored to its premier status with influences inspired by the past and present. Set in the heart of Chennai, Taj Connemara is 19 kms from the airport and 4 kms from Central & Egmore Railway Stations, while LIC Metro Station is just 1 km.

Dining in the South is a whole new experience, and its breadth and depth is probably lesser known compared to the more popular cuisine of the North. The flavours are gentler, the spices fewer, the richness more contained. Multiple and vegan dining options will delight both the vegetarians and the adventurous. From Anglo-Indian and global mainstays at The Verandah, to culinary heirlooms of Chettinad at the award-winning Raintree and the 19th century inspired English Afternoon Tea service at the Lady Connemara Bar, the ambience of our restaurant in Chennai, is just as tasteful.
